The youth exchange "The Art of Nature" –will be held in the beautiful Bavarian mountains near the city Regensburg from 22nd of till 27th of April. The idea is to drag the people out of their comfort zone to get again in touch with nature and its benefits. We are going to learn about low-effort methods of eco-friendly thinking and behavior that are easy to implement in everyday life. Hereby we connect ecological attempts with art/culture, social aspects and participation in order to experience their links in all states of life. In the same breath take we want to promote youth work and support young people to be active through art and develop a sustainable life style. All the program activities will be run in the non-formal education methodology and in an interactive way featuring creativity workshops, such as creative recycling and building your own instruments and playing theatre. The group will spend six impressive days in the nature that is all organized by you – food, cleaning, night times and free time activity. –Highlight will certainly be the long nights sitting by the campfire, learning from each other, sharing, singing songs and telling stories.
